Dingley's Promise Training

Building Early Years Inclusion

Early Years SEND Transitions Training Course

Would you like to have more knowledge and confidence to manage the significant transitions affecting children you work with?

This course aims to increase educators' confidence in supporting the transition of children in their setting to primary school, by providing a deeper understanding of what constitutes an effective transition process for children with SEND in the Early Years. You will learn how all effective long term transitions involve a period of preparation, followed by the actual move or change, and then a process of adjustment and acceptance, and explores strategies for good transitions

THIS COURSE COVERS:

- Understanding transitions from the perspectives of the child, family and setting.
- Planning and supporting transitions that meet the individual needs of children with SEND.
- Understanding how transitions can affect a child's developmental progress and emotional wellbeing.
- Building collaborative relationships across settings, with the child at the heart of the process.

YOU WILL EXPLORE:

✓ What is important to the child and for the child during transitions
✓ The role of families and their wider networks in supporting successful transitions
✓ Different settings involved in the transition process and strategies to support children and families
✓ How to build children's resilience, confidence and independence
✓ Building relationships and working collaboratively across settings

Join Dingley's Promise in transforming inclusive practice in the early years, to give every child the best start in life.

"I found the course so helpful and interesting. The videos and webinars are very clear and informative."

Dingley's Promise trainee

Register today for our 'Early Years SEND Transitions' Training Course by visiting dingley.org.uk/training/