Building Early Years Inclusion

Intersections Within Early Years Practice Training Course

It is vital for us as early years providers to ensure that we aim to be fully inclusive in everything we do.

This course will explore intersectionality, the overlapping and interdependent systems of discrimination and disadvantage that many face due to the intersections in their lives. You will learn about the different intersections and how intersectionality impacts the lives of children with SEND and families we are working with.

THIS COURSE COVERS:

- Recognising how different forms of discrimination and disadvantage can overlap.
- Understanding the factors that can create barriers to inclusion for children and families.
- Developing awareness of the legislation and guidance that support fair and inclusive practice.
- Considering how your setting can reduce barriers and create more inclusive experiences for all families.

YOU WILL EXPLORE:

✓ Common themes of discrimination and how they have developed over time

✓ Relevant early years legislation and statutory and non-statutory guidance

✓ The different factors that can shape a family's experiences and access to support

✓ How you can adapt your practice to reduce barriers and strengthen inclusion

Join Dingley's Promise in transforming inclusive practice in the early years, to give every child the best start in life.
